Asia Pacific Logistics Federation

To be the lead advocacy for supply chains and logistics in the Asia Pacific region

To influence stakeholders in the Asia Pacific Region to ensure the region has safe, secure, reliable, sustainable and internationally competitive supply chains

APLF Background

The APLF was established in November of 1995 by logistics organisations from countries in the Asia-Pacific region. The APLF participating countries are Australia, China, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, New Zealand, Philippines, Thailand, Singapore, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Indonesia, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Vietnam and Myanmar.

The APLF actively fosters and promotes professional development of purchasing, materials and logistics / supply chain management, and its key objectives are:

- To be the recognised voice for supply chain and logistics in the Asia Pacific Region.
- To promote and encourage greater recognition of the APLF by influencing the APAC region concerning the importance of supply chains and logistics.
- To promote and communicate the importance of the logistics services industry's contribution to Asia Pacific Regions economy.
- To upgrade educational standards of the profession by providing training and certification to meet the increasing demand for qualified and competent workforce in the Asia Pacific Region.

APLF Strategy

- To increase the profile and relevance of the APLF in the region, therefore improve the profile and relevance of APLF member Associations
- To drive membership and profile of the respective Country APLF member Associations
- To move the APLF to the position of peak body in the Asia Pacific region
- To assist and provide value to companies in the industry
- To assist and provide value to individuals in the industry
- To assist Governments with policy development
- To harness the Asia Pacific regions' competitiveness and growth in supply chain & logistics
- To create APLF programs and events that drive revenue, so as to fund APLF growth, coverage and sustainability

Objectives

- To be the recognised voice for supply chain and logistics in the Asia Pacific Region
- Promote and encourage greater recognition of the APLF by influencing the APAC region concerning the importance of supply chains and logistics
- Promote and communicate the importance of the logistics services industry's contribution to Asia Pacific Regions economy
